Xcode Signing: How to fix (iPhone Developer: XXX, Application: XXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXX) warning I am using Xcode version 7.1.1 on OS X 10.11.6. I want to get rid of a warning (iPhone Developer: XXX, Application: XXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXX) that appears as an icon in the upper right corner of Xcode's window. I found a similar question on Stack Overflow, but I still can't solve the problem. I've tried to use different certificates and Provisioning Profiles and followed every step of the Xcode tutorial, but it didn't work. Any ideas? Thanks in advance! A: Try to delete the codesigning from xcode, then re add it. Xcode should tell you to install a new version of codesign. You can do that by running the following command from a terminal: `/usr/bin/codesign --force --verbose` This will allow Xcode to redownload the codesign and to generate a new codesign again. After that, it might give you the error (iPhone Developer: XXX, Application: XXXXXXXXXXXXXXXX) again. You can simply try to press shift+command+k to kill the warning. Then try to build the project again and see if the error is gone. A: I had the same problem. I've tried all the solutions mentioned here, but in my case all of them did not work. In the end I've followed the instructions in this document and it worked. Close Xcode. Close Terminal. Delete the xcode-select and xcode-select-active folders from your home directory. Delete the codesign-ddict file. Start Xcode. A: Try this, Go to your project BuildSettings/General tab Check the Search Paths section Here remove the path which has the .mobileproot and .mobileproot/Xcode7.1 folder.

Also remove the

CODESIGN_ALLOCATE

command from your build settings.

Then press Build and Run Q: the
